Traveling in Olden Times

From the Louisville Post

A careful inspection of the vehicles of former times leads us to the conclusion that our forefathers were lined with zinc and copper fastened—for nothing short of it could have withstood the joltings and jarrings, the bouncings and bumpings entailed upon those who used any other method of locomotion except that which nature provides. The chariot in which Gen. and Mrs. Washington went to Philadelphia upon his election to the presidency was no doubt an instrument of torture. To the discomforts of this rambling old carriage may be added, for the general, the incessant wagging of Mrs Washington's tongue, for it is a well known fact that Martha was of a shrewish nature, and made no bones of giving the general her views in a very forcible manner. The method of traveling which they pursued gave publicity to the fact that the general had a curtain lecture every night for a night-cap. In the course of their journey, they arranged to spend the nights at the houses of the gentry scattered along between Mount Vernon and Philadelphia—and Martha was often heard to nag her lord and master until a loud snore announced that the general was safe in the land of dreams from all worldly annoyances.

The chariot was the acknowledged mark of aristocracy. A journey in these days entailed a retinue, somewhat after the following order.

1. Marster and Missis in a carriage.

2. Marster's "boy" on horseback, with a led horse for Marster to ride when he wished to stretch his legs.

3. A wagon containing two heir trunks and Missis's maid.

The rate of progression was about four miles an hour.

The habit of carrying servants even on neighborly visits obtained in Virginia and Maryland lasted until the abolition of slavery. A form of entertaining, called "spending the day," was the fashion. This consisted in going to a friend's house early in the morning, and staying until late in the evening, consuming the interval in a succession of meals. Besides the visitors, the coachman and horses, there was usually a "maid," who sat on the rack behind the carriage, swinging her legs in ecstatic delight at the prospect of "going abroad."

Chaises were the only two seated vehicles in use, and were something like a modern top buggy, except that they had but two wheels. Consequently, going up hill the occupants were being spilled out behind, and going down hill they were spilled out before.

SATURDAY EVENING, MAY 21, 1881.

AT a late hour yesterday afternoon the United States Senate completed its labors and adjourned sine die. The president can now take a much needed rest.

THE press dispatches do not mention the confirmation of Gen. Moore as consul at Callao, but there is not much doubt that he was among the lucky ones who went through the senate during the closing hours yesterday.

THE reports of losses of cattle in Montana have been grossly exaggerated. A ranchman in the valley of the Yellowstone, who owns a thousand head of cattle, writes that his loss during the past winter was only three head and those of his neighbors even less.

THERE are forty-four Presbyterian missionaries in Utah who are maintained at an annual cost of $36,000. The Congregationalists are spending $30,000 in new school houses and churches; the Methodists have twenty missionaries on the ground, and other denominations are represented. These tremendous onslaughts have incited the Mormons to renewed zeal, and the echoes are awaked by the resounding clamor of the warring religious hosts.

THE Newman Independent sounds a doleful note as to the wheat outlook in that fertile region. It says: "The wheat crop in this vicinity will be rather light, this season, on account of being winter-killed. Large fields are being plowed up and planted in corn."

THE New York Sun has information that "the hangman at the late execution of the Nihilists primed himself for the task with liquor; in other words, this functionary of the gibbet presented himself for his official duties and performed them drunk. He was heavily flogged in payment for his services, but the castigation of the bunghing executioner did not add any impressiveness to the remembrance of a spectacle which raised the horror of those who witnessed it."

PROFITS OF BOOT BLACKING

New York Times.

The philosopher who declared that it required brains to black boots well might have added that boot-blacking well conducted is anything but an unprofitable business. At least this must be the conclusion of those who know anything about the earnings of a well-situated bootblack in a large city. There is one young man in New York, for instance, who does the "shining" for the patrons of a certain down town restaurant, and who does not think he has done an average day's business unless his receipts for his eight working hours amount at least to $3. And, moreover, he is an exceedingly independent young man, will black boots for no one who does not treat him civilly, indulges in a month's vacation each summer, patronizes the opera, and discourses fluently, if not always discriminately, in regard to tenor and prima donna. Still another of the fraternity—a youngster hardly well in his teens—was the other day heard to exclaim: "Pshaw! I couldn't be hired to sell newspapers." Now comes a story from Albany, in this State, to the effect that a bootblack in that city has saved $2,500 from his earnings of the past eight years, besides paying his mother, for the greater portion of the time, board at the rate of $8 a week. With such examples before them, it is to be wondered at that the hundreds of young and able-bodied men who have again for the season begun to idle their time away on the benches of the city parks could not find some more profitable employment.

The Czar's Soliloquy.

The Czar sat in his heavily guarded castle, reading the Washington dispatches. He wore a horrible frown, which was presently succeeded by an immense smile, that spread his imperial mouth far back toward his imperial ears. He had come to the news of the star route iniquities. "By Jehoffski!" he cried, bringing down his fist, and his countenance again changing, "Thiski is the ways ki that menski do when they have their rightski! Give themski a constitutionoffski! I'll see themski hangbakgikdaslackemonditbangkikoffe-roffenffkrak—" and here the Czar's meaning became involved in such a whirl of Russian expletives that the patient Nihilist who had been standing with one ear to the keyhole completely lost the thread of the imperial remarks, and barely escaped between the legs of two Cossacks who were hurrying up under the impression that Alexander was calling somebody.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HENDRICKS ON HANCOCK AND ENGLISH.

Ex-Gov. Hendricks, of Indiana, was in Kansas City, Mo., the other day, and in conversation with a newspaper reporter expressed himself very freely. He said that he thought that President Garfield was right in the present complications at Washington, but did not believe that he will antagonize Conkling further than to insist upon the confirmation of Robertson. Speaking of William H. English and the conduct of the last Presidential campaign, he said: "He is living in Indianapolis, as usual. The stories of his vast wealth are greatly magnified. I suppose he is now worth about $1,000,000; certainly no more. His nomination for the Vice Presidency was not a felicitous one. It created no enthusiasm. There was nothing in common between him and the great mass of the people. Why, he did not seem to know how to conduct himself before the nomination. During the campaign hundreds of gentlemen visited Indianapolis who are entitled to little courtesies at his hands. What, to a man of his means, would have been the expenditure of $2,000 or $3,000 for the entertainment of guests? And yet he entertained nobody, not even to extend the usual courtesies to those who called upon him. General Hancock is a very different sort of a man, liberal, hospital and social. I do not believe he was the kind of material for a Presidential candidate, for the reason that, having always been in the army, he had never been identified with the defeats and victories of his party. He is a great General and a noble man, but he was not known as a working Democrat. Now, the party loved General Jackson because he was not only a great soldier but was also a vigorous, aggressive politician. Hancock was certain he would be elected. His defeat must have hurt him terribly. I am glad he didn't resign his place in the army, for I understand his means are somewhat limited."

The Lovely Character of Mrs Garfield.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

All the people of the United States will deeply sympathize with the president in this supreme anxiety. Mrs. Garfield has been to the president "far above rubies." In boyhood and girlhood they trod the paths of learning almost hand in hand. It was learning that brought them together, and learning and love have kept them together all these years. Of superior education and gentle ways, Mrs. Garfield has been able to teach her own boys quite to the entrance doors of college; so that "her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also and he praiseth her." "She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue is the law of kindness." She has looked "well to the ways of her household," and has not eaten the bread of idleness." "The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her." "Strength and honor are her clothing." She has been a rare wife, and now when her wildest girlish dreams have just been more than realized, all the American millions will fervently hope that she may be spared to enjoy her high station, to the gaining of which her splendid and cultivated womanly qualities and capacities have largely contributed.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when SCOVILL'S BLOOD and LIVER SYRUP will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It is indeed a strengthening syrup, pleasant to take, and has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing Scrofula, Syphilitic disorders, Weakness of the Kidneys, all Nervous disorders and Debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that human flesh is heir to. A single bottle will prove to you its merits as a health renewer, for it acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system. He Saved the Heathen.

"What is the ante!" whispered a Red Gulch miner with a single $20 gold piece to the deacon with the collection plate in the Baptist Church at Black Run, Col. He was told to contribute whatever he chose, whereupon he said he'd chip in a dollar, and proceeded to take $19 in change. The deacon softly replied that no change was given. A struggle ensued, the plate was upset, and the congregation was in the act of "jumping the deacon's claim," when the minister, an old Californian, leaned over the pulpit with a large navy revolver and observed: "The brethren will please take notice that I have got the drop on them, and any brother who declines to go to his seat or who touches any of that money will have a funeral at his house to-morrow at 2 o'clock, p. m. Our mining friend from Red Gulch will kindly release the deacon's throat or he is a dead man." The twenty-dollar gold piece was sent to save the heathen.

WASHINGTON.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE SENATE.

Nothing New in the Conkling Case.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The President informed the Senators who called upon him this morning that he would have no further nominations to send to the Senate this session. An effort will be made to adjourn sine die to-day, and it will succeed unless unexpected debate ensues over some of the contested nominations.

The friends of William E. Chandler have about given up the idea of securing his confirmation. Attorney General MacVeagh has been and is very active against Chandler, and within twenty-four hours has secured some votes. Last night Senator Mitchell, whose vote has been counted for Chandler notified the latter's friends that he should vote with his colleague against Chandler. Senator Frye told your correspondent that Chandler's case looked about hopeless, as all efforts to get Democratic support had failed. In his opinion, the Senate would act on the case to-day, and if Chandler was rejected, the President would not appoint during the recess of the Senate.

The Southern Senators are opposing the confirmation of Mr. Schofield to be Judge of the Court of Claims on the ground that a Southern man should have been appointed, and that if he is confirmed the South will have no representative on the bench, and that it is entitled to one of the Judgeships.

It has been incorrectly stated that the Republican caucus held some days ago decided to support Senator Harris for President pro tem. of the Senate. It can now be said authoritatively that the name of Senator Harris was not even mentioned at that caucus, and that the Republicans at no time agreed to support him.

Dr. Loring, the new Commissioner of Agriculture, will not relieve General Le Duc until the 1st of July, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The President having said he had no further business for the Senate, it was moved to adjourn to day sine die by Ingalls. The Senate, however, went into executive session.

While the Senate was still in executive session, the message from the President was received transmitting the report of the Secretary of State, with accompanying papers, in the case of Michael P. Boyton, and it was ordered printed.

Mr. Logan offered a resolution which was adopted, directing the Committee on Military Affairs to examine into the affairs of the Soldiers' Home, at Washington, D. C., to report to the Senate the second Monday of December the results of its inquiry.

Mr. Harris having taken the chair, Pendleton offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are due, and are hereby tendered, to the Vice President for the courtesy, ability and impartiality with which he has presided over the deliberations of the Senate during the present session.

When the doors were reopened, they having been kept closed which the foregoing resolutions were acted upon, the Senate, on motion of Pendleton, adjourned sine die.

Contrary to the usual custom, no President pro tem. of the Senate was elected.

Senator Van Wyck, of Nebraska, formerly of New York, thinks Conkling very unwise and that he can never recover his prestige. Two years ago, he was the unanimous choice of the party, but now must fight to get back, and will represent only a faction. The opinion is growing among Republicans that Conkling don't want a re-election, and it is reported he will publicly refuse it in a day or two.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The Tribune says there were a few politicians at the Fifth Avenue hotel last night in expectation of the possible arrival of ex Senator Conkling and Vice-President Arthur from Washington, but they were disappointed. The Conkling leaders present the night before did not make their appearance last evening, having been informed that the ex-senator would not come, and the conference which had been arranged on the part of the stalwarts will probably not take place until to-morrow. Platt told a friend yesterday that he thought the course of events at Albany would force him to become a candidate in self defense. He did not say positively that he would be a candidate. Conkling's indecision has had a bad effect in the stalwart ranks. Assistant United States District attorney said he did not see how it was possible to return Platt and Conkling again to the senate by this or any future legislature.

"The legislature will elect two senators," said E. D. Webster, who had just come from Albany, "and they won't be Conkling or Platt. This man Conkling of yours is crazy." He added to ex-Collector Thomas Murphy, who came up at that moment: "Suppose Fenton had resigned when you were confirmed, Murphy, wouldn't you have set him down as a fool? It's the suicidal act of an idiot and he can never be elected again. I don't think he will be a candidate." Said Murphy: "I know that overtures have been made to him to enter a law firm here with a guarantee of $50,000 per annum."

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., May 20.—In the senate Mr. Adams' bill to allow the Chicago Lincoln park commissioners to take possession of the roadway between the water works and the park and make a boulevard of it, came up on the third reading, and was laid aside, and the house bill for the same purpose considered, and finally ordered to a third reading, after meeting with determined opposition from the Democrats, who were angry at having been muzzled yesterday on the apportionment bill, and determined to obstruct all they could. Mr. Merritt presented a petition from several large property-owners on Dearborn avenue against the proposed improvement, but it had no weight against Adams' explanation that they were opposed to this improvement because interested in the scheme to make a boulevard of Dearborn avenue, and feared that this improvement would make that unnecessary.

A bill to enable incorporated cities, towns and villages to increase their rate of taxation above their charter limit was sent to a third reading.

The apportionment bills, as amended, were taken up and passed by a straight party vote of 32 to 14. Upon them the Democrats exhausted all their ingenuity in filibustering, making all possible dilatory motions and trying to get an adjournment, but the bills go to the house as amended yesterday.

The senate General Levy bill was then passed. It appropriates $2,500,000 upon the valuation for 1881, and $1,500,000 upon the valuation for 1882, and $1,000,000 for school fund in lieu of a 2 mill tax therefor.

The bill to require life insurance companies of foreign countries to put up the usual deposit before they can transact business in this state, was passed, and the senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.

All the Republican members of the house but two were present to-day, and the consideration of the senate appropriation bills was resumed. First came that of the State Normal university at Normal, upon which the Democrats shot off their regulation speeches. Their amendments were voted down, and the Republicans adopted amendments reducing the total amount of the appropriation for the next two years by $2,520, the amount allowed the institution being $17,500 per annum.

It does not appear why the Democrats in the legislature should so bitterly oppose appropriations for the state penitentiaries where so many good Democrats are congregated. Their party friends there will hardly thank the Democratic members for so bitterly fighting appropriations designed to secure their comfort and convenience. Still it may be good policy, for if those penal institutions are wholly suppressed, as seems to be the tendency of the opposition policy, a good many Democratic voters will be let loose to be counted on election day.—Bloomington Leader.

CHAMPAIGN Herald. Can't you get David Davis mad enough to resign, Brother Garfield? Suppose you send Jim Blaine to him and inform him that you think the courtesy of the senate is a gilded fraud, and that he can't have any of his friends appointed to office. Illinois will await the result with the deepest interest.

ILLINOIS seems to faring well just in federal appointments, which would seem to show that Senator Logan is in accord with the administration in the interest of his friends. General Jesse Moore, of Decatur—"the fighting Methodist parson"—has been appointed to the consulship at Callao, South America, and Gen. "Dick" Rowett, of Carlinville, one of the heroes of Altoona Pass, and other battles, is given the collectorship of the fourth (Quincy) district. Both the appointees are thoroughbred stalwarts, and their nomination is as satisfactory as it is surprising, in view of recent events.—Globe-Democrat.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William L. Conklin, of Somerville, Mass., is remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors cut a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone that at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the last three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take DR WM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by all druggists. 6d&w13-1

A Social and Financial Success

It is not often that the ladies of the Baptist congregation give a public entertainment or festival, but when they do, the affair is always largely attended and proves to be a financial success Such was the result of the Baptist supper, social and strawberry festival given at the tabernacle last evening The weather was all that could have been desired, and ladies and gents who rejoice in the possession of spring suits and hats were out in full force A splendid supper was served to a large number of people on the stage at 25 cents a plate, commencing at five o'clock It embraced everything seasonable and good, and was served in excellent style The hall was thronged during the evening with a sociable crowd of people who liberally patronized the several strawberry, ice cream, candy, lemonade and flower stands, while the fish pond came in for its share of attention The receipts were about $175, and the expenses in the neighborhood of $75

Work of the Cut Worms

Many farmers in the city to day from different parts of Macon county report that the cut worms—black pests about an inch long and nearly as thick as a lead pencil—are playing the deuce with the corn crop in nearly every field James Sanders reports that he will have to plow up and replant 15 acres of his field, and a near neighbor will replant 25 acres. The cut worms work at night and level the tender shoots to the ground There are millions of them in some fields

The Musical Mokes

The big event in the amusement line in Decatur next week will be the appearance of the celebrated Barlow Wilson Primrose & West minstrel troupe—40 people—at the opera house Said the Peoria Transcript one morning this week

The minstrels played last evening to a good house and gave a very enjoyable entertainment The audience enjoyed every portion of the long programme, and signified their enjoyment by repeated rounds of applause The choruses and solos were alike good and the gags more modern by several generations than the average minstrel troupe furnishes Altogether it was an excellent entertainment and left an impression that will do the company good service whenever they return to Peoria

THE EVERLASTING SLEEP

The Mortal Remains of the Hero of Three Wars Consigned to the Grave

The funeral of the late William Young until Thursday morning last one of the very few pensioners of the war of 1812 a veteran of the Mexican war and of the late Rebellion took place from the Rising Springs Grist Mill four miles northwest of Decatur at two o'clock yesterday afternoon and was largely attended by neighbors and friends The remains were escorted from the house to the hearse by the members of the Macon County Veteran Association in command of Captain Fry who covered the coffin with the stars and stripes and buried he with military honors in accordance with imposing military honors at the cemetery near the church to the music of the old soldiers well-worn fife and drum

The funeral sermon in Peoria was preached by Rev T S Lockwood who devoted almost of his remarks to the life of the deceased It was followed by Mr J D Wilcox who entered more into the particulars of the military record of the deceased giving a full but interesting review of his life and times He spoke of the four great epochs in the history of America—the Revolutionary War the war of 1812 the Mexican War and the late Rebellion—and eulogized in fitting words the bravery the self denials and noble sacrifices of the dead and living defenders of our glorious free country At the cemetery Elder Gregory offered the closing prayer of the religious services and the veterans fired three volleys over the grave of the deceased comrade

The veterans returned to the city in two spring wagons On reaching the business part of town they alighted from the vehicles and marched to the assembly rooms headquarters preceded by a martial band

W C Coup the great circus manager and proprietor of the monster hippodrome which is to exhibit in Decatur June 17th by keeping faith with the public during the past season has so fully and firmly built for himself an enviable reputation as a caterer to the tastes and lavish demands of the public by placing before them seemingly inexhaustible and continuous strings of every novelty and feature in the amusement line that the brain and money could be brought to action But this season he has fully eclipsed all former efforts and his name is now a household word as the Big Price of Showman This is the man that favors our city as on Friday, June 17th

DIED.

DRY GOODS,

OIL CLOTHS, WINDOW CURTAINS, MATTINGS

WALL-PAPER, CARPETS, &C.

A better or larger assortment of DRY GOODS and CARPETS adapted to the wants of this community cannot be found anywhere else, and as we Buy in Large Quantities, and chiefly of the Importers and Manufacturers, and as our Sales exceed that of any other House in the United States according to population, which requires a very small per cent on the amount of our sales to pay our expenses it will not be taxing the credulity of the people too much when we claim that no House in Chicago or St. Louis, much less in Decatur, can compete with us in LOW PRICES, because the expenses of the former, according to sales, double that of ours, while the pretentions of the latter—at least those who pretend to be "Leaders" and "Importers" and buyers for cash—presume greatly on the ignorance of the public, when they try to set themselves up as competitors

We know how to buy goods where to buy them, and what will sell them

$5.00 Reward!

To any young lady in Macon county composing the most suitable music for the following:

Old Father Grimes that good old man
He's able for we seen him
Hired to say, for nothing for boys or men
I always go to a Reliable One Price Store
Upon his judgement you always could rely,
His Suits put up to order, he said call on Fleury.
And at last, upon his dying bed
He called his sons around to them said
When I am gone and with you no more
Always buy your Clothing of the One Price Store,
Where Goods are marked in plain figures and one price only
Don't forget to save money and only with pleasure always

Ladies

Do you want a pure, blooming Complexion? If so, a few applications of Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM will gratify you to your heart's content. It does away with Sallowness, Redness, Pimples, Blotches, and all diseases and imperfections of the skin. It overcomes the flushed appearance of heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes a lady of THIRTY appear but TWENTY; and so natural, gradual, and perfect are its effects, that it is impossible to detect its application.

BOB INGERSOLL thus analyzes the literary genius of Lord Beaconsfield "Most of his characters are like himself—puppets moved by the string of self-interest The men are adroit, the women mostly heartless They catch each other with false bait They have great worldly wisdom The virtue and vice are mechanical They have hearts like clocks—filled with wheels and springs The author winds them up Every now and then he allows us to enter the ground of the heart We see the rages of the old mask In all these novels and in fact in all his writings there is a touching absence of soul and sincerity All his books will rot with their author to their tomb
